Frameless Hinged Door & Panels

When shopping for a new shower enclosure, consider that less is more. There are less hardware and metal in an all-glass shower to block the view. Think extravagant minimalism. As implied in the name, the edges of a frameless shower are exposed and polished or mitered to a smooth finish. The frameless design offers the clean look of a fixed panel set into metal u-channeling and hinged doors.

A header may be necessary on larger enclosures.

Comes in 3/8" Glass. Can be done in a tiled or onyx enclosure. Not available for fiberglass enclosures.

Frameless Sliding Doors

Since the exposed roller hardware is overhead, one of the biggest advantages of barn door showers is that there is no bottom rail to trip on. Many barn door styles are also ADA-compliant for homeowners with wheelchairs and mobility concerns.

Can be done in a tiled or onyx shower. Not available for fiberglass enclosures. Choices include type of glass, one or two sliding panels, handle style and hardware finish. Max height 80".

Semi-frameless Bypass Doors

The classic semi-frameless glass shower doors enhance the look of any bathroom with bypass shower panels free from aluminum framing. One panel includes a finger knob for one side of the glass and the other panel has a through glass towel bar. Can be done in a tiled, onyx or fiberglass enclosure.

Clear, frosted and rain glass options available. Rain & frosted glass not available in 5/16". Offered with one through-glass towel bar and one finger knob unless handles are upgraded.

Comes in 1/4", 5/16" & 3/8" Glass. Matte Black not offered in 3/8". Max Height 80".

Semi-frameless Hinged Door & Panels

A Semi-Frameless shower door is a nice compromise between framed and frameless glass. Typically, there is some metal framing, but not around the door itself. There is a header to provide stability. It gives a slightly more modern look than a traditional framed shower but saves some of the cost of having an entirely frameless shower enclosure. Semi-frameless showers are widely considered to have the best water retention performance available. Can be done in a tiled, onyx or fiberglass enclosure. Comes in a 1/4" door & 3/16" panels. Clear, frosted and rain glass options available. Max Height 84".
